Opening ski area

16 December 2023
until 12 April 2024

The Les Sybelles® ski area first opened its doors on 13 December 2003, becoming a noteworthy addition to France's network of expansive, interconnected ski areas. Fast forward 20 years, and on Saturday, 16 December 2023, Les Sybelles® is set to mark its 20th anniversary with the seasonal opening of its slopes. Nestled in the Maurienne region, this ski area ranks as the fourth largest in France and the seventh largest in Europe. Despite its size, Les Sybelles® has managed to maintain its unique charm, featuring six ski-in/ski-out village resorts and an expansive terrain that offers breathtaking views at every turn.

Boasting 136 ski runs to cater for skiers of all abilities, and elevations ranging from 1,100m to 2,620m, the Sybelles® ski area provides an expansive playground for winter sports enthusiasts. This extensive area is stretched across its six ski-in/ski-out village resorts, all of which converge at the Pointe de l'Ouilleon, situated at an altitude of 2,400m. This point acts as a pivotal junction connecting the slopes of Le Corbier, La Toussuire, Saint-Sorlin-d'Arves, Saint-Jean-d'Arves, Saint-Colomban-des-Villards, and Les Bottières.

The skiing experience at Les Sybelles® is unlike any other, largely due to its open landscape that imparts an extraordinary sense of space. Known for its breathtaking scenery, the resort offers panoramic views in all weathers, making it a sight to behold no matter the conditions. Offering one of the most stunning 360° vistas in the French Alps, Les Sybelles® provides an unparalleled outlook on the awe-inspiring Aiguilles d'Arves peaks.

As we all celebrate turning 20 this winter season, we eagerly await your participation in the festivities.

The History of Les Sybelles, 4th Largest Ski Area in France

The tale of Les Sybelles® is a collaborative saga of six resorts coming together under the shared belief that unity amplifies strength. These resorts include Saint-Jean d'Arves, Saint-Sorlin d'Arves, Les Bottières, Le Corbier, La Toussuire, and lastly, on the Villards valley side, Saint-Colomban.

For years, the Ouillon plateau in the commune of Saint-Sorlin had been envisioned as the linchpin for an interconnected ski domain. In the early 1990s, community stakeholders, led by Jean-Léon Girardin, president of the syndicat intercommunal, and Michel Bouvard, general councillor and future MP and senator for Savoie, initiated work on the ambitious project.

Joined by resort mayors and lift operators, the plans began to crystallise.

A crucial player in bringing the vision to fruition was Gaston Maulin. Originating from a family of bakers in the Isère region, Maulin initially began his career in the bakery business before transitioning to chocolate production and trade. His entrepreneurial efforts quickly bore fruit, leading him to head multiple businesses. Yet, his crowning achievement lay in Les Sybelles.

Throughout the 1990s, Maulin and his wife, a Corbier native, formed strong ties with the resort community. In 1995, he acquired the ski lifts in Corbier and Saint-Jean-d'Arves and immediately recognised the potential of the proposed ski link.

Simultaneously, with Maurice Bozon, the mayor of St-Colomban des-Villards, championing the cause and the backing of lift companies, village mayors coalesced in support of the endeavour. Gaston Maulin took on the role of project manager. The acquisition in partnership with La Toussuire ski area operator, in 1998, of the Saint-Sorlin d'Arves ski lifts, was a pivotal moment, making the interconnected ski area a feasible aspiration.

By 1999, the inaugural phase was executed, marked by the development of a new tourist unit at Ouillon.

On 18 December 2003, the six resorts were connected by the Ouillon summit lift. The creation of the Domaine des Sybelles® stands as a testament to collective ingenuity and cooperation.

New Offers, Investments

Les Sybelles® of Tomorrow

A new 10-seater gondola will create a direct link from La Toussuire to Ouillon.

Slated for operation in December 2025, this lift will serve as the second section of the 10-seater Côte Du Bois gondola, which was inaugurated in January 2023. Representing a €M13 investment, the extension will facilitate quick and direct access from La Toussuire's snow front, elevating riders from 1,800 to 2,400 metres.

Opening December 2025.

The new all-season Saint-Sorlin-d'Arves gondola

The new Saint-Sorlin-d'Arves gondola is set to connect Saint-Sorlin-d'Arves to the Ouillon plateau in under 13 minutes. During the winter, the new lift will optimise skier distribution throughout the ski area, offering panoramic skiing with 360-degree views. Come summer, holidaymakers will find themselves less than 25 minutes from l'Ouillon once they reach the gondola's summit.

This significant investment aims to bolster Les Sybelles' appeal as a prime destination in winter and summer.

Opening in 2025.

Integration of photovoltaic energy production systems on ski area structures

Les Sybelles® has initiated a comprehensive study and investment plan aimed at offsetting a portion of its annual electricity use through the integration of photovoltaic panels on building rooftops. Various structures, spanning several hundred square metres - including offices, garages, and technical sites - have been assessed for this initiative.

From December 2025.

The Sybelles® ski area is consistently updating its facilities and enhancing slope accessibility. It's investing in photovoltaic energy and soft mobility, whilst also initiating feasibility studies to connect the valleys with the mountain resorts.

Recognising its responsibility to be increasingly virtuous, competitive, and innovative, as well as to diversify its winter and summer offerings, Les Sybelles® aims to invest 100 million euros over the forthcoming decade.

Spotlight on five key initiatives:

Integration of leisure facilities in a nature zones around the Ouillon plateau

Les Sybelles® is working on a year-round development plan to provide guests with a unique experience. This involves immersive, interactive adventures in a fantastical world, facilitated by an Explor Games® application.

This project is aligned with broader efforts to rejuvenate the region and enhance its appeal. Environmental sustainability and tourism performance are key elements, augmenting both the winter and summer offerings at Les Sybelles.

The opening is set to coincide with the launch of the new Saint-Sorlin-d'Arves gondola lift.

A valley lift to improve mountain access and reduce environmental impact

The team behind the Les Sybelles® ski area is advancing plans to bolster mountain accessibility by investing in soft mobility solutions. These will complement the existing rail services with a multimodal transport approach, covering the remaining kilometres to the resort accommodations.

The objective is to establish a ropeway link between the Saint-Jean-de-Maurienne international train station and the Sybelles® ski resorts by 2032. The managers of Les Sybelles® ski area have decided to bring this project to the attention of the local authorities. The valley lift aims to make rail options more appealing, reducing the carbon footprint by reducing the number of vehicles used by holidaymakers, resort staff, and local residents. This move will also enhance transport safety and diminish the need for delivery trucks to reach high-altitude resorts.

Opening in 2032. Estimated budget: €M50.

Tangible Eco-commitments to Preserve the Mountains

The Les Sybelles® ski area has set itself the objective of reaching carbon neutrality by 2037, through immediate steps to protect the environment and harness all available means to cut carbon and lower energy usage.

Since 2020, this initiative has led to the execution of 16 eco-commitments that address climate concerns via an action plan focused on energy conservation and a phased approach to decarbonising operations, aiming for zero emissions by 2037.

The plan also features provisions for more efficient management, conservation, and distribution of water for artificial snow production, to offset fluctuations in natural snowfall.

Additionally, it outlines investments in biodiversity protection and a forward-thinking strategy to maintain the landscape, whilst also addressing waste produced by tourism.

Climate and Energy

- / Ski Area Carbon Neutrality by 2037.
- / Supporting the emergence of the hydrogen-powered groomer and promoting the roll-out of carbon-free hydrogen sources.
- / Initiating a carbon footprint assessment.
- / Eco-driving training for groomer operators.
- / Eco-driving training for chairlift, gondola, and aerial tramway operators, and installing automatic eco-driving devices.
- / Closing superfluous lifts during off-peak hours, provided it doesn't impact the number of available runs.
- / Sourcing 100% of energy utilised by ski lifts and other facilities throughout the ski area from renewable energy through a green contract with EDF.
- / Using digital solutions like SNOWSAT on snow groomers to gauge real-time snow thickness on slopes, thereby fine-tuning operation timings, minimising snow production periods, and optimising the management of all resources, whether technical, human, or material.

An ecological data center which works thanks to renewable energies.

All servers of Sybelles® are located at Grenoble (French Alps) at a service provider who focused on renewable energies.

Biodegradable runway maps

In a bid to improve customer communication quality and align with its dedication to environmental sobriety, Les Sybelles® is refreshing its piste map by using biodegradable paper. All piste maps are shipped to Les Sybelles® using a consolidated freight system to minimise the carbon footprint as effectively as possible.

Water and agriculture

- / Water storage for balanced withdrawal over time.
- / Water savings: Real-time measurement of snow depth at multiple points on the slopes to fine-tune snow production volumes throughout the season.
- / Support for pastoralism and water sharing: In times of drought, communal use of water resources with local livestock farmers, as well as for fire-fighting and potable water needs where suitable.

Biodiversity

- / Ecological inventory: Within five years, each operator inventory environmental data for the natural areas in question including fauna, flora, wetlands, wintering areas, breeding areas, and more since 2015. This inventory will be systematically updated in areas where work is undertaken.
- / Protection of mountain galliformes: 100% of ropeway sections that may be obstacles to the flight of large birds - in particular of the black grouse - will carry signalisation.

Landscapes

- / Planting after construction work: Commitment to replant 100% of the grassy/high mountain pasture areas after ground levelling work.
- / Commitment to the use of endemic seeds for replanting.

Waste

- / Waste collection in natural areas: Organisation of pick-up operations every spring.
- / Raising skier and hiker awareness to reduce waste in 100% of the resorts, in partnership with associations like Mountain Riders.

These specific measures from Les Sybelles® form part of the 16 eco-commitments plan implemented since 2020 across all 238 French ski areas through Domaines Skiables de France (DSF). For context, ski area operations contribute to just 3% of the carbon footprint for a day's skiing, whereas transport makes up 52%, accommodation 21%, clothing and ski/leisure equipment 16%, and food 8%. (Source: GHG emissions study Ademe, sector guide 2022).
